Introduction

In the new period, the construction of rural grass-roots party organizations is an important task of party work, but also a key link to promote rural economic and social development. With the deepening of rural reform and the comprehensive implementation of the rural revitalization strategy, the role of rural grass-roots party organizations has become more prominent. In the past practice and exploration, we have thoroughly implemented the spirit of the Fifth Plenary Session of the 19th CPC Central Committee, adhered to the guidance of General Secretary Xi Thought on Socialism with Chinese Characteristics for a New Era, strengthened organizational construction, deepened reform and innovation, and gave full play to its functions, and achieved a series of important achievements. Through the practice and exploration of the construction of rural grassroots party organizations in the new period, it aims to further improve the work of Party organizations to provide reference and inspiration and contribute to rural development and rural revitalization.

1. Problems existing in the construction of rural grassroots party organizations in the new period

Since the eighteenth big, the party construction put forward a series of new ideas and new deployment, these views and deployment for the problems existing in the construction of rural grassroots party organizations in the new period provide important guidance and reference, some grass-roots party organizations in rural work is not outstanding political function, political stance is not high, resulting in promoting rural revitalization, rural governance modernization is not obvious. In terms of serving the masses, some grassroots Party organizations have problems such as low service levels and poor service content, which make it difficult to meet the diversified needs of farmers. In some grass-roots party organizational construction, there is relatively weak organizational strength, and organizational vitality. The insufficient situation, has affected the cohesion and combat effectiveness of the grass-roots party organizations (Chen Yulv & Cai Zhigang, 2023).

Some grass-roots Party organizations lack of awareness of the importance of innovation work, lack of innovation consciousness and innovation ability, resulting in poor work results. Some grassroots party organizations in the construction of party members, there are some problems of low quality and insufficient activity of party members, we need to further strengthen the construction of party members. Therefore, there are some problems in the construction of rural grassroots party organizations in the new period, the service level needs to be improved, the organization construction is relatively weak, the innovation consciousness is not strong, and the construction of party members needs to be strengthened urgently. In view of these problems, we need to take effective measures to solve the new views and arrangements of party building to promote agriculture Village grass-roots party organization construction to a higher level.

2. The line and strategy of rural grassroots party organization construction in the new period

2.1 Upholding the overall leadership of the party

The overall leadership of the party is the core of the construction of rural grass-roots party organizations. We must adhere to the party's overall leadership over rural work, strengthen the political construction of rural grass-roots party organizations, and ensure that the party always becomes the strong leadership core of rural development. To uphold the overall leadership of the party means to ensure that in all the work of rural primary party organizations, we always implement the party's lines, principles, and policies, obey the decisions and arrangements of the CPC Central Committee, and ensure that the party's political stance, political consciousness, and political feelings run throughout the whole process of rural work. To uphold the overall leadership of the party means strengthening the organizational construction of primary-level party organizations in rural areas, improving the party's organizational system, and improving the organizational management system. The party organization plays the leading role in the rural grass-roots work.

To uphold the overall leadership of the party means implementing the party's ideology at the rural grassroots, guiding farmers to establish a correct world outlook, outlook on life, values, firm ideals, and beliefs, enhance the Party spirit and consciousness, always follow the party's command, and strive for the efforts to achieve the Party's goals. To uphold the overall leadership of the party means to ensure that the party's leading position in economic, political, cultural, and social development is implemented, and that the party's leadership and governance capacity are constantly improved. In general, adhering to the overall leadership of the party means to always put the Party first and adhering to the Party in the construction and work of primary-level Party organizations in rural areas. We will lead all our work to ensure that the Party's line, principles and policies are implemented and that all Party decisions are implemented and implemented. This is the fundamental requirement and important guarantee for the construction of rural grass-roots Party organizations, and also the key to achieving the strategic goal of rural revitalization.

2.2 Strengthening organizational construction

In the 20th Congress, the core thought of comprehensively governing the party with strict discipline was clearly put forward, and the importance of party management and strict party governance was emphasized. Strengthening the building of community-level organizations is a basic project for comprehensively enforcing strict Party self-governance. In order to strengthen the organizational construction, the key is to strengthen the leading role of the party, ensure that the Party carries out strict management of party members, and strengthen the education and management of party members. In the new era, we face many severe challenges and difficulties and problems, but the key is to keep a clear head and firm faith. The report to the 19th CPC National Congress clearly points out that the Party's political building must be regarded as the core task of Party building and continue to strengthen the Party's Innovation ability, solidarity ability, and combat strength.

The new era has put forward higher requirements for the party building work. In order to strengthen the party's political construction, it is necessary to cultivate party members and cadres with loyalty, purity, and a sense of responsibility, firmly safeguard the authority of the CPC Central Committee and enhance the Party's innovation ability and unity. The report of the 19th National Congress of the CPC pointed out that promoting the standardization of grass-roots party organizations is an inevitable requirement for improving the organizational system and improving the quality of party organizations. This needs to strengthen the party's organizational construction, strengthen the construction of grass-roots Party organizations, improve the organizational system and working mechanism, and enhance the party's organizational cohesion and combat effectiveness (Yu Jiajia, Jiang Yan, & Jing Changheng, 2023). After the 18th National Congress of the Communist Party of China, we should strengthen the education and management of party members and promote the quality of all party members. Therefore, it is necessary to strengthen the education and training of party members, strengthen their ideological and political guidance, strengthen their organization and management, and effectively improve their quality and ability.

2.3 Promoting the ranks of party members

Since the 18th National Congress of the CPC, emphasis has been placed on strengthening the education and management of Party members and encouraging all party members to constantly improve their own quality. The new view emphasizes the need to give ideological and political guidance to party members, strengthen their organization and management, and effectively improve the quality and ability of party members. In the new deployment, it is required to strengthen the daily education and management of party members, guide them to firmly establish a correct world outlook, outlook on life and values, strengthen the cultivation of party spirit, and constantly improve their political consciousness and professional ability. The report to the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China clearly stated that we should build a contingent of high-quality party members, which requires paying attention to the political quality and professional ability of party members.

The new view emphasizes the need to train loyal, clean, and responsible party members and officials, resolutely safeguard the authority of the CPC Central Committee, and enhance its creativity and cohesion. The new plan is required to strengthen the education and training of party members, improve their political theory level and practical ability, and build a contingent of party members who are loyal, pure, politically competent, and have a fine style of work. To promote the building of party members, it is necessary to closely combine the new views and arrangements on party building since the 18th National Congress of the CPC, pay attention to strengthening the education and management of Party members, improve the quality of party members, improve the assessment and evaluation mechanism of party members, and strengthen intra-party supervision, so as to promote the healthy development of party members and enhance the ranks of party members combat effectiveness and cohesion, for the realization of the party's cause to provide a strong guarantee.

2.4 Strengthening the community-level governance system

First of all, we need to improve the system of primary-level party organizations and improve their organizational strength, combat effectiveness, and cohesion. This means to strengthen the construction of village-level party organizations and community party organizations, promote the standardization and institutionalization of grass-roots Party organizations, and improve their service level and governance capacity. To strengthen the community-level governance system, we also need to modernize community governance and establish a sound community governance system featuring community self-governance, law-based governance, serving society, and ensuring people's livelihood. This means strengthening the work of community party building, promoting the cultivation and expansion of community self-governing organizations, improving the community governance mechanism, and improving the level of community grassroots governance

Secondly, we should strengthen the construction of grass-roots cadres and cultivate a team that understands agriculture, loves rural areas and farmers, and loves agriculture, rural areas and farmers. This includes strengthening the selection, training, and assessment of grassroots cadres, improving their quality and ability, and encouraging them to fulfill their duties for grassroots development. In addition, it is also necessary to deepen the construction of grass-roots democracy and promote the improvement of democratic decision-making, democratic management, and democratic supervision mechanisms at the grassroots level (Han Pengyun, 2023). This includes strengthening the system of community-level democracy, expanding the channels and ways for people to participate in community-level governance, and promoting the democratization and legalization of community-level governance.

2.5 Strengthening institutional construction

In view of the various problems existing in the process of rural grass-roots party organization construction in the new period, it is very important to strengthen the system construction work. First of all, in order to ensure that the grass-roots party organizations can play a good guiding role in the process of rural revitalization and construction, effectively improve the service level of the rural grass-roots party organizations to the grass-roots people, so that the majority of rural residents can improve the satisfaction of the government, we must lay a good institutional foundation. According to the current situation of social production and construction process, the development and construction of rural areas, combined with the development and change of rural areas, the work, service, and leadership system of rural grass-roots party organizations are constantly improved and improved, so as to promote the process of promoting the rural revitalization strategy. All kinds of resources should be rationally and effectively allocated to improve the level of rural grass-roots party building in the new era, and realize the effective improvement of the level and ability of grass-roots governance (Guo Xiangong & Wei Jingjing, 2023).

At the same time, the rural grassroots party in the new period and the system construction work also requires the assessment of party members cadres incentive system, according to the party members and cadres in the construction of the grass-roots party organizations and work performance evaluation and assessment, realize the effective distribution of party members, fully stimulate party members and cadres work enthusiasm, to ensure that they can constantly improve their work level, not only focus on rural economic construction, more should pay attention to the rural environmental governance work, promote the sustainable and healthy development of rural areas.

3. Conclusion

In the new period, the practice and exploration of the construction of rural grass-roots party organizations is an important task of the Party, and also the key to promoting the rural economic and social development. Through strengthening organizational construction, deepening reform and innovation, giving full play to functions and innovating working methods, remarkable results have been achieved. In strengthening organizational construction, we will pay attention to improving the quality and ability of party members, increase training and education, and actively guide the masses of non-party members to participate in the activities of party organizations, so as to expand the coverage and influence of party organizations. It is believed that under the strong leadership of the CPC Central Committee, the rural grass-roots party organizations in the new era will continue to play an important role in realizing the great rejuvenation of the Chinese Nation's Dream unremitting struggle.
